VOL. XXXVII., No. 3. NEW YORK, January 18, 1890.

WHOLE No. 938.

D. APPLETON & CO.

PUBLISH THIS WEEK:

Around and About South America:

TWENTY MONTHS OF QUEST AND QUERY. By FRANK VINCENT, author of "The Land of the White Elephant," etc. With maps, plans, and 54 full-page illustrations. 8vo, xxiv-473 pages, cloth, $5.00.

Mr. Vincent made the entire circuit of South America. He visited every capital, chief city, and important seaport, made several expeditions into the interior of Brazil and the Argentine Republic, and ascended the Paraná, Paraguay, Amazon, Orinoco, and Magdalena Rivers; he inspected the coffee districts of Brazil, descended the gold mines; in brief, left no place of importance unvisited. Several interviews with Dom Pedro are of special interest.

Falling in Love:

WITH OTHER ESSAYS ON MORE EXACT BRANCHES OF SCIENCE. By GRANT ALLEN, author of "Flowers and Their Pedigrees," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

"Mr. Grant Allen's treatment is dexterous, his style light and pleasant, his command of the fields of science extensive, and his resources in all that pertains to the 'fairy-tales of science' admirable indeed. The result is a bright and readable book."—London Saturday Review.

Bishop Butler:

A RELIGIOUS PHILOSOPHER FOR ALL TIME. A sketch of his life, with an examination of the "Analogy." By THOMAS RUGGLES PYNCHON, D.D., with portrait from painting at Trinity College, Hartford. Square crown 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

The Dean's Daughter.

By SOPHIE F. F. VEITCH, author of "Angus Graeme," etc. Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents.

"Recalls to some extent the vanished hand of the author of 'Jane Eyre.' . . . The 'Dean's Daughter' firmly establishes Miss Veitch's position among the upper ten of the female novelists of the day."—London Academy.

Julius Courtney; or, Master of His Fate.

By J. MACLAREN COBBAN. Reprinted from Blackwood's Magazine. The Gainsborough Series. 12mo, paper, 25 cents.

This remarkable novelette illustrates some new and startling phases of hypnotism. It has attracted much attention in course of its publication in Blackwood.

A NEW EDITION DE LUXE OF Charles Dickens' Complete Works.

LIMITED TO 1000 NUMBERED SETS.

Unquestionably the handsomest edition of Dickens' writings—the nearest approach to the highest ideals of perfection in book-making—ever attempted in this country.

The type is from a new font, especially cast for it and never used for any other purpose.

The paper—also especially made for it—combines the qualities of excellence in finish and in the materials used, with a lightness of weight that prevents the volume from being uncomfortably heavy to hold and read.

The illustrations—half the value of a good edition of Dickens—are incomparably superior to any ever issued in any edition printed in this country, and are only excelled—if at all—by the original issues of each volume, sets of which bring from one to two thousand dollars.

All the original etchings by Cruikshank and others have been carefully re-etched, line for line, from brilliant original proof impressions, and proofs taken for this edition on Imperial Japanese paper. The wood-engravings are printed on Japanese paper from electrotypes never before used furnished by Dickens' original publishers.

The set will be completed in 45 volumes, at the rate of about two volumes per month.

Price, bound in vellum cloth, gilt tops, uncut, $2.50 per vol.

Issued by subscription only, and no orders taken except for complete sets. Prospectus, with specimen showing type, page, paper, etc., with specimen illustration, mailed free upon application.

NOTES IN SEASON.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. have just published "The Story of Tony," an historical romance, by Mary Hartwell Catherwood, who wrote the recent Century novel, "The Romance of Dollard." The volume is illustrated from original drawings by Enoch Ward.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON will publish shortly Chas. Loring Brace's new work, entitled "The Unknown God, or, inspiration among pre-Christian races." The object of this work, which takes its title from St. Paul's sermon at Athens, is "to show that the unknown God has been worshipped and devoutly followed by people of distant ages—long previous to Christianity—or by those of later periods, who knew nothing of the Christian revelation."

A. L. BURT has issued a volume on "Fugitive Facts," edited by Robert Thorne. It comprises short articles, alphabetically arranged, on topics constantly arising in conversation and general reading, on which it is hard to find accurate and definite information. The volume is strictly popular and not intended for scientific reference, but all the statements made are supported by acknowledged authorities. The queries in the correspondence departments of periodicals and newspapers have suggested many of the subjects treated. The editor has added an appendix, devoted to short selections of constantly used medical and business terms and short dictionaries of mythology and music. The book is neatly gotten up in handy shape and ought to be successful.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish shortly a new volume, in The Story of the Nations Series, entitled "The Story of the Barbary Corsairs," by Stanley Lane Poole, with the collaboration of Lieut. J. D. Jerrold Kelley, of the United States Navy; three new Knickerbocker Nuggets, "The Garden," with critical essay, by Walter Howe; "Letters of Philip Donner, Fourth Earl of Chesterfield, to His Godson," by the Earl of Carnarvon, a supplementary volume to the "Chesterfield Letters," containing all the newly collected English and French letters recently issued by the Clarendon Press; and "The Boyhood and Youth of Goethe," comprising the first thirteen books of his autobiography; and two new books in The Questions of the Day, on "Railway Secrecy," by John M. Bonham, and "American Farms," by J. R. Elliot.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just ready "The Bible and Modern Discoveries," by Henry A. Harper, with an introduction by Walter Besant, which includes, in a popular form, the most significant results of the researches made under the Palestine Exploration Fund; "The Discovery of the Ancient City of Norumbega," already fully described in the WEEKLY; "The Diary of William Pynchon, of Salem," edited by Dr. F. E. Oliver, which gives an interesting picture of Salem life, social and political, during the eventful years 1776 to 1789; also a new and enlarged edition of Prof. J. M. Hoppin's delightful volume, "Old England," which contains a chapter devoted to places not included in previous issues.

DODD, MEAD & Co., in response to a very general demand, will publish, in the course of the next seven or eight months, cheap twelvemo editions of fourteen of E. P. Roe's novels. This series will be well printed and attractively bound in paper covers to retail at 50 cents, and will include "The Earth Trembled," "Young Girl's Wooing," "Opening of a Chestnut Burr," "From Jest to Earnest," "Without a Home," "His Sombre Rivals," "Day of Fate," "Nature's Serial Story," "Face Illumined," "He Fell in Love with His Wife," "Knight of the XIXth Century," "What Can She Do?" "Driven Back to Eden," and "Near to Nature's Heart." Each volume will be strictly limited to 30,000 copies, and the entire edition will be sold through the American News Company.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

"It was James G. Birney who first called abolitionists away from obsolete issues to the true one. In the summer of 1835 he abandoned his Southern home and removed to Ohio, declaring that the slavery of the blacks had ceased to be the question before the country, and that the liberties of all American citizens and the safety of the republic were in danger. During the following ten years he was recognized by the opponents of the slave-power as their leader."—Preface.

Black, W: Nanciebel: a tale of Stratford-on-Avon. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 4-118 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1259.) pap., 20 c.

In the grouping of the words, the general plan has been followed of placing the subsidiary words, or those treated as such, a little to the right of the leading word, for the reader guidance of the eye. This system of grouping presents at once all the derived and related words in good use. No preference to any one authority has been shown, but the words have been compiled principally from the Stormonth, Webster, and Worcester. No definitions are given, excepting in the case where words are pronounced alike—these are gathered into an appendix.

Booth, Mrs. Otto. ["Rita," pseud.] The Ladye Nancey; or, the woman in black. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 4-274 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1253.) pap., 20 c.

Booth, Mrs. Otto. ["Rita," pseud.] The seventh dream. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 4-89 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1252.) pap., 20 c.

Booth, Mrs. Otto. ["Rita," pseud.] A vagabond lover. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 4-136 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1237.) pap., 20 c.

Caine, Hall. The bondman: a new saga. N. Y., Frank F. Lovell & Co., [1890.] 1+357 p. D. (Lovell's household lib., no. 280.) pap., 25 c.

Caine, Hall. The bondman: a new saga. N. Y., J: W. Lovell Co., 1889. 1+357 p. D. (Lovell's lib., no. 1462.) pap., 20 c.

Caine, Hall. The bondman: a new saga. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 1+357 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1255.) pap., 20 c.

Caine, Hall. The deemster: a romance. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 343 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1234.) pap., 20 c.

Cameron, Mrs. H. Lovett. Her father's daughter. N. Y., G: Munro, [1890.] 4-256 p. D. (Seaside lib., pocket ed., no. 1236.) pap., 20 c.

Catherwood, Mrs. Mary Hartwell. The story of Tonty. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1890. c. '89. 3-227 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

"The story of Tonty" is eminently a Western story, beginning at Montreal, tarrying at Fort Frontenac, and ending at the old fort at Starved Rock, on the Illinois River. It weaves the adventures of the two great explorers, the intrepid La Salle and his faithful lieutenant, Tonty, into a tale as thrilling and romantic as "The Romance of Dollard" by the same author.

Cleveland, Cynthia E. His honor; or, fate's mysteries: a realistic story of the United States Army. N. Y., American News Co., 1889. 2+258 p. il. D. cl., $1.50; pap., 50 c. The characters are officers of the U. S. Army; the tale is one of love and marriage, with the usual misunderstanding before the happy ending.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 18, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BOOKS AND FURNITURE.

IN one of the Western cities a few years ago there was a simultaneous movement on the part of the richer men to build fine houses for themselves, and the leading bookseller of the place bethought himself that here was a chance to furnish private libraries for these elegant mansions. The architect had in each case, of course, provided a library, or at least marked such a room on his ground-plan, and it seemed that here at last was a field where good bookselling and real enterprise might tell. Consequently the bookseller engaged a capable agent and sent him in succession to the several men who were building these new fine houses. He found his results so near to nothing that they did not pay the expense of the canvasser—a most sad conclusion which convinced our bookselling friend that the bottom had dropped out of the book business.

This is really an extraordinary social phenomenon. These same rich men were buying all sorts of bric-à-brac, and sometimes filling picture galleries with most costly paintings, and yet for their libraries they did not want any books. A well-known sanitary engineer who has had occasion to visit a great proportion of the finer houses in New York, states that in almost no case has he seen a fair collection of books, a real private library, in houses where thousands of dollars were spent upon china and bric-à-brac. Private libraries outside of those of the collectors of specialties seem indeed almost to have ceased to exist.

We have no theory to offer adequate to explain this fact. In Boston it might be attributed to the existence of the great Public Library and the great scholarly library of the Athenæum, but in Boston there are probably more private libraries than in any other one place in the country. It might be attributed to the demands upon reading time made by the magazines and big newspapers, but this explanation is hardly adequate. One of the great publishers once said epigrammatically, that the business of publishing was one of solicitation, and that is even more true of the bookselling business, that is, the retailing of books. Yet the dealer of whom we first spoke would say that he had done his best to solicit this class of custom and had failed. What seems to be the case is that the public sentiment of the richer class of the community does not call upon a man to be the owner of a private library. Bookselling itself has throughout the country reached such a low ebb that booksellers have little to do in making public sentiment. At any rate the matter is worth the consideration of the publishing and bookselling trade.

THE Senate Committee on Patents did not hold a meeting on the 9th inst., hence the expected hearing in favor of international copyright was not had. Dr. Edward Eggleston made a brief statement of the case at an informal hearing before the House Judiciary Committee.

THE London publishers of Biart's "Adventures of a Young Naturalist," having sold the plates and the exclusive rights of the book for America, have inadvertently sent to this market one hundred copies of their edition of the book. We simply call attention to this case as one of oversight on the part of the English publishers, and as one which we are pleased to state does not often occur. The ownership of the rights of publication of this book for America rests with Messrs Harper & Brothers.

ANOTHER example of fighting fire with fire is furnished by Messrs. H. N. Brooks & Co., booksellers, of Meriden, Connecticut. They send us a circular headed "Dry-goods without profit," which they say turns out the most successful scheme they have tried yet. In this circular they offer pins, Coates' thread, and other leading lines of the dry-goods stores at bottom cut prices, and "dry-goods 12mos" at 19 cents each. The sting of the circular is in the concluding paragraph, which says, "No price others can make on these goods will be as low as our price, save until we find it out. We shall set the prices." The circular is signed by H. N. Brooks & Co., as "booksellers and stationers and temporary dry-goods dealers." The dry-goods people in Meriden are beginning to feel that what is "sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

WE are taking unusual pains this year to make the ANNUAL CATALOGUE (books issued during 1889) as complete as possible, by means of the supplementary list, and also to issue it, as well as our Annual Summary Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, promptly. During the year we make every effort to induce publishers to send us all books issued or the titles of them, and to follow up every title that appears in any shape, in book reviews, advertisements, or mention, in the large number of papers on our exchange list, which are carefully read for that purpose. But our efforts are not always promptly responded to, and despite all endeavors, some titles escape us. Therefore we take the additional precaution this year of sending to every publisher who has issued books during the year, asking him to supply any omissions, and offering to loan for his guidance the list which we keep arranged by publishers. These titles we include in our supplementary list. But we do not undertake to give there mere reissues, in which only binding is changed, or mere changes of prices—of which we are glad to make record during the year in "Literary and Trade Notes." We trust our pains in this work will be appreciated by practical support, both in the way of subscriptions from the trade at large and of advertising lists of their books of 1889 from publishers. The necessity of this ANNUAL CATALOGUE is not done away with by the new volume of the AMERICAN CATALOGUE, for that cannot begin to appear until next fall.

CAN PICTURES BE ENGRAVED IN BOND?

THE Photo-Electrotype Engraving Company of New York is having some trouble with the Collector of the Port over pictures sent to it from Glasgow that were seized and held for appraisal. On Dec. 26 the company was notified that a registered package was in the Post-Office awaiting payment of duty. The company said it was importing nothing for sale here. The pictures were drawings sent here for the company to make plates from, and when the plates were made the pictures and plates and everything pertaining to them were to be shipped back to Glasgow to the book publishers that had sent them here. There were eighteen pictures for illustrating a book. The Appraiser said that he had no discretion in the matter, but he would be as easy as he could in the case; he would appraise them at $2 each. The duty was $10.80. The pictures were the work of a well-known artist. Even at the appraised value of $2 each the duty was enough to take the edge off the profit in the job, and the work will have to be abandoned unless the Collector reverses the decision of the Appraiser. The Secretary of the Treasury has not yet returned his answer. In the meantime the Photo-Electrotype Engraving Company has paid duty under protest, has engraved the plates, and has sent them back together with the originals.

WANAMAKER'S BOOK NEWS—A CRITICISM.

From the New York Sun.

THE career of Mr. Wanamaker as a statesman, as a laundryman, as a Government contractor, as a host to guests of the nation, as a Sunday-school superintendent, as proprietor of a bargain counter, and as a writer for the advertising columns of the local press, has, at one time and another, been referred to appreciatively by The Sun. There is one field in which he is conspicuous that remains to be described. Mr. Wanamaker is the editor and proprietor of a monthly magazine entitled Book News. It is now in its ninth year of successful publication, in spite of the fact that its existence has not hitherto been well known to the general public.

It is a particularly interesting publication on several accounts. For instance, some of the most marked characteristics of its editor and proprietor, Mr. Wanamaker, are as plainly seen in its pages as they are in his combined management of a department of the public service and a bargain counter.

Books are unquestionably considered as books in Book News just as spittoons are considered as spittoons at the bargain counter or in Government contracts. There are pages in the periodical where the name of "the Wanamaker" does not appear, but they are pages which have been sold to advertisers at $200 per page for the year.

Some people would, on an examination of this periodical, decide that it was an advertising circular. The statement that it was "published monthly by John Wanamaker, 50 cents a year, postpaid," would not alter this conviction. Indeed, on reading that all communications should be addressed

BOOK NEWS,

JOHN WANAMAKER,
Philadelphia,

they might be confirmed in this opinion. An examination of the records of the Philadelphia Post-Office, however, should immediately disabuse the mind of this belief. It cannot be an advertising circular, because it is mailed as second-class matter, or at two cents per pound. It must therefore be "published for the dissemination of information of a public character," and is "not primarily designed for advertising purposes," as the law provides. It is not to be supposed that "the Wanamaker" and Postmaster-General would violate the law by sending advertising circulars through the mails under the guise of a periodical "devoted to literature." This is a case wherein the evidences of the senses should give way to the evidences furnished by official records.

In connection with a consideration of Book News, it is not inappropriate to recall the fact that a very considerable space in the report of John Wanamaker, Postmaster-General, was devoted to the government's loss of revenue in carrying periodicals, that by means of a nominal subscription list were able to evade the law excluding advertising circulars from the second-class mail-matter. Editor and Publisher Wanamaker does not say how large a subscription list Book News has. It may be taken for granted that the list has an existence, however, if one remembers, in connection with Carlyle's estimate of the human race, that all other periodicals devoted to book news are sold at $1 a year, while Editor Wanamaker's is only 50 cents a year—not payable in advance—once a subscriber, always a subscriber.

THE "BLUE-BOOK" FOR 1889.

MR. AMES, the Superintendent of Documents, has completed the compilation of the first volume of the Official Register, or "Blue-Book," for the year 1889. It is expected that the work will be ready for distribution by January 20. "This volume," says a correspondent to the New York Tribune, "contains a list of all the employés of the government, with the exception of those in the general postal service, together with the officers of the army and navy, the total number of names amounting to 58,000. The volume shows that 16,234 persons are employed in the city of Washington, 12,215 being men, and 4021 women. These are divided among the several departments as follows: Treasury, 2334 men, 1308 women; War, 1749 men, 79 women; Navy, 1430 men, 27 women; Interior, 2308 men, 801 women; Post-Office, 481 men, 147 women; Justice, 82 men, 15 women; Agriculture, 156 men, 120 women; Labor, 44 men, 9 women; Government Printing Office, 1504 men, 709 women; Washington City Government, 706 men, 667 women. Totals—11,081 men, and 3894 women. The remaining 1259 are employed chiefly in the smaller Executive offices of the Government and at the Capitol."

COMMUNICATIONS.

IS IT RIGHT?

I AM a retailer and am entitled to a trade discount. Do I get it? Let us see.

Here is a book published at \$5. It is so listed and advertised. I send to the publisher for a copy, and it is billed to me at \$3.33. But a private buyer goes to the publisher for it, and is quite likely to get it for \$4. Does not the man who is not a bookseller get more by 33 $\frac{1}{3}$  cents than I do, if, to meet the action of the publisher, I am compelled to sell at the same price? In other words, he gets \$1 off, and I get 67 cents, which don't pay me the actual cost of handling! And the publishers wonder why the retailer doesn't carry a full line of their books! How can he?

RETAILER.

THE WANAMAKER BOOKSTORE: "STANDARD BOOKS OF PERMANENT VALUE."

PHILADELPHIA, January 13, 1890.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly:

As the buyer and Manager of the Book Department of the firm of John Wanamaker, I ask that I may have an opportunity of calling the attention of the readers of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY to the false impression the writer of an editorial in the WEEKLY for December 28 (page 1003) has of our stock of books. After saying that his friend was going to Wanamaker's to buy his books, he adds, "The books upon which he decided were probably not in stock there, for they were standard books of permanent value, such as the 'department' bookstores do not usually keep on hand." If the writer had consulted any leading publisher in the country, he would have found that we do carry a large stock of standard books. We have never attempted to keep Law, Medical, Scientific, or School-Books, but outside of these lines, we buy every new book published by Harper Bros., D. Appleton & Co., Chas. Scribner's Sons, Houghton, Mifflin & Co., and every leading publisher in the country. Now the assertion to which I take exception is equivalent to saying that no book of "permanent value" has been published in the United States for three years (I speak for the time the department has been under my charge). The importers of the Oxford Teachers' Bible will tell you, I think, that we use more of these books than any other retail store in the country, and surely you will agree that the Bible is, at least, entitled to a place among the books of "permanent value."

In the number for December 7, under the heading "The Old Book-Clerk and the New," your correspondent gave rather an amusing account of what might possibly occur in a business of such proportions that we are compelled to add to the book department alone one hundred extra salespeople, and a hundred others to act as packers, cashiers, cash boys, and delivery men to meet the demands of the holiday business; but with all the prejudice that he evidently has against stores of this kind, I am sure that he would not endorse the assertion that we do not keep books of "permanent value," for it is an unjust reflection upon every author and publisher in the country, and misrepresents my manner of conducting this branch of the firm's business.

WARREN SNYDER.

[Our phrase "standard books of permanent value" was an inexact one; the article was intended to point out that the "department" bookstores do not carry a general stock of standard books not of recent issue, which should be found in a well-appointed bookstore. Probably the Wanamaker department store carries more such stock than most department stores, for it represents the department system at its best. But it does not keep in stock, so we understand, the books infrequently in demand, which it costs most to keep.—ED. P. W.]

BOOK CLERKS IN DRY-GOODS STORES.

BUFFALO, N. Y., January 13, 1890.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR: You reprint a paragraph from the Buffalo Courier about a girl who did not know the difference between Edwin Arnold and Benedict Arnold. I doubt whether this occurred here, but even if it did it is not as surprising as a thing that occurred a few years ago at Christmas in a bookstore in New York City. A man who professed to be a bookseller asked me if we had "Martin Chuzzlewit," by Oliver Twist. I got him the book, but the other salesman, hearing of it, plagued him all day. The next day he asked me for "The Heart of Midlothian," by Scott. I showed him a set from which to take it, but he said, "Oh, you can't catch me; that set is by Mr. Waverley." He called himself a bookseller, while our girls came from notions departments and do not pretend to know the trade. The story you quote also does not compare with a certain well-known publisher of New York who advertised in your paper that he had entered with the Librarian of Congress the assignment of copyright on Ware's "Zenobia," a book published about fifty years ago; he also claims copyright on the works of such authors as Arthur Helps and Mayne Reid.

Some dry-goods stores have as good bookmen in them as any bookstore, and have as good a stock of books as nine out of ten bookstores in the U. S.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

OBITUARY.

ROBERT FARRAN.

WE regret to record the death on December 13, at Surliton, of Mr. Robert Farran, formerly head of the firm of Griffith, Farran, Okeden & Welsh, of Saint Paul's Churchyard and Charing Cross Road. He had not been actively engaged in business for nearly two years, and his retirement from the firm from June 30, 1888, owing to his prolonged illness, was announced only a few months ago. The son of Major Charles Farran, of the 14th. Madras Infantry, he was born in India on January 28, 1829, but was taken to London at a tender age. He received his early education as a bookseller and publisher in the house of W. H. Allen & Co., now of Waterloo Place, but at that time in Leadenhall Street; the training so well begun was completed by a long subsequent engagement with Messrs. Longmans & Co., whom he left to join Mr. Griffith at the corner of St. Paul's Churchyard after the retirement of Mr. Grant in 1856. The high reputation of this old established house for the excellence of its publications and the strict integrity of its transactions was strengthened and enhanced by the influence of Mr. Farran, whose cautious judgment, excellent business aptitude, and courteous kindness won the confidence and esteem of all who were fortunate enough to know him. He took a very keen and active interest in everything that concerned the welfare of the Booksellers' Provident Institution. He was buried on Dec. 17 at Norbiton Cemetery.

MAJOR JAMES FRANKLIN FITTS, the littérateur, lawyer, and soldier-novelist, died at Lockport, N. Y., on the 12th inst., at the age of fifty years. He began his career as a story writer when seventeen. Ballou's Pictorial, The Flag of Our Union, and the New York Weekly published his first short novels and poems. From 1860 to 1870 he wrote for The Galaxy, Beadle's Monthly, Lippincott's Magazine, and various other periodicals. He also wrote for The Youth's Companion, Hearth and Home, and other magazines and papers. His most noted novels were "The Parted Veil," published in Belford's Magazine for August, 1889, and "A Modern Miracle," published in the Manhattan Series.

WESTLAND MARSTON, the poet and dramatist, died on the 8th inst., aged seventy-one. Among his better-known plays are "The Heart and the World," "Strathmore," "Ann Blake," "A Life's Ransom," "A Hard Struggle," "Pure Gold," "The Wife's Portrait," "Donna Diana," "The Favorite of Fortune," "A Hero of Romance," "Life for Life," and "Under Fire." Among his poems are "The Death Ride at Balaclava" and "Gerald." In 1860 he published a novel called "A Lady in Her Own Right." He was one of the editors of the National Magazine.

S. C. GRIGGS, Jr., son of S. C. Griggs, the well-known publisher of Chicago, died at his father's residence on the 11th inst. Mr. Griggs was for some time connected with literary periodicals in Chicago, and at the time of his death was associated with his father in the publishing business.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MR. STEAD, who severed his connection with the Pall Mall Gazette, has begun the publication of a new periodical entitled The Review of Reviews.

THE New York Ledger for Jan. 11 has an artistically printed souvenir supplement, giving

Mr. Whittier's poem, "The Captain's Will," with illustrations by Howard Pyle.

BEGINNING with the January number of the Illustrator, the main office of publication hereafter will be in Chicago, Mr. Fleming H. Revell being its publisher from that city, and Minneapolis will only be a branch office.

The Newsdealer is the title of a projected journal to be issued shortly by Warren E. Price, 1203 Market St., San Francisco, Cal., in the interest of newsdealers in the United States. Its ambition is to be "to the newsdealers all that the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is to the bound-book trade."

"THE NEW YORK BANKS" is the title of an article by Richard Wheatley, which will be published, together with elaborate illustrations of the subject, in the February number of Harper's Magazine. In the same issue George William Curtis will discuss New York street cleaning, the electric light problem, and inter-collegiate athletics.

Le Livre has become Le Livre Moderne, and will drop long bibliographical accounts, editorial notices, advertisements of all kinds, etc. In connection with Le Livre a paper which is to be called La Librairie Internationale: Journal de la Publicité du "Livre Moderne" will be started, containing advertisements specially connected with the book trade in all its branches.

WALTER BESANT in the January English Illustrated Magazine takes up the story of the career of the hero and heroine of Ibsen's "Doll House," twenty years after the now famous separation with which that play concludes. Helmer has become a drunkard, one of his sons is a forger. The daughter loves the son of Krogstad (now a man of position), but Krogstad forbids the banns, and the girl drowns herself. All this, we are taught, is Nora's fault.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. WILLIAM SHARP has undertaken to write the volume on Browning for the Great Writers Series.

GEORGE C. GORHAM, who for many years was Secretary of the United States Senate, is at work on his biography of Edwin M. Stanton.

MRS. ELIZABETH STUART PHELPS WARD has finished a novel entitled "Come Forth," which is described as "a love-story full of religious interest, and culminating in the raising of Lazarus." It will be published first through the McClure newspaper syndicate. Her husband, the Rev. H. D. Ward, has nearly finished an historical novel depicting life in Ancient Babylon.

ZOLA's latest work, "La Bête Humaine," will be followed by "L'Argent," which will deal with Bourse speculation and, to a certain extent, with politics. Then will follow "La Guerre," a naturalistic work, treating of the army, the war of 1870, and containing a long dissertation on the surrender of Sedan. The next book will conclude the Rougon-Macquart series, and will describe how all the characters not already killed off will end. As soon as the series is completed, which will be in 1891, M. Zola intends to devote himself exclusively to the stage. He will then be fifty-two years of age, and will confine himself to the production of original plays, that is to say, plays which have not been adapted from his novels.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JOSEPH MACLEAN, of Philadelphia, not George Maclean, wrote the letter, "The Sale of 'Valuable' Books," printed in our last issue.

MR. HENRY S. ALLEN, well known to the book trade, sailed on the 11th inst., by La Normandie, of the French Line, to spend about six weeks abroad on business, visiting London and Paris.

THOMAS WHITTAKER will publish this week "The Prayer-Book Reason Why," giving catechetical instruction on the doctrines, usages, holy days, etc., of the Episcopal Church, by the Rev. Nelson R. Boss; also "Pathways to the Church," by the Rev. Geo. W. Shinn, D.D., a brochure intended for wide circulation.

THE closing volume of C. A. Fyffe's "History of Modern Europe" is now in the hands of Cassell & Co. The volume embraces the period from 1848 to 1878, and throws, we understand, considerable light on the complex problems in European politics which led to the Franco-Prussian War.

ROBERT CLARKE & Co. announce the following important publications: "Fort Ancient," an account of the great prehistoric earthwork of Warren Co., Ohio, by Warren K. Moorhead, of the Smithsonian Institution; "A History of the Girtys," the curious record of certain "renegades" of the American revolution, by Willshire Butterfield; and "Monographs of the Kentucky Geological Survey," John R. Procter, Director.

WILLIAM HODGE & Co., Glasgow, will shortly publish by subscription a book entitled "Trial by Combat," by George Neilson. The author traces the history of the judicial duel in both England and Scotland; and he claims that, by this comparative treatment, he is enabled to throw light upon many hitherto unexplained features in the law and practice of both countries. In particular, he deals with the duel on the borders under the march laws, and with the famous combat of the clans on the Inch of Perth, in 1396.

W. HEINEMANN, who has been associated with the late firm of Trübner & Co. for the past ten years, commenced business at 21 Bedford St., Strand, on January 1, and will issue at an early date new works by well-known and popular English writers. We also understand that Mr. Heinemann is negotiating for several works by American writers, and that he proposes to issue such works by special arrangement with the authors and publishers here. In his new venture Mr. Heinemann takes with him Mr. Ham. Smith, who has been in the employ of Trübner & Co. for fourteen years past, and who may be known to several of our publishers who have visited the old firm on Ludgate Hill.

THE American Grocer says in reply to a critic on the question of competition: "Free competition means bankrupt, ignorant, malicious, unfair competition. Chicago has recently furnished an instance. A large book-publishing firm failed; its stock was slaughtered, and New York book-buyers are offered a complete set of Dickens' and other authors' works far below the cost of paper, printing, and binding. Books quoted at $18 list are retailed by dry-goods stores at $3.58. The honest, thriving publishers cannot meet such competition. Is it right that thousands of families dependent upon their wages as bookmakers should suffer in order to let a few hundred people have a line of cheap books?"

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

It is desirable to receive copy in shape ready for the printer, viz.: first, headline—name and address—then, titles in separate lines (see below), all written on a separate sheet, or at the bottom of letter, or on postal card. Compliance with this request will secure accurate and prompt insertion.

NEW CHEAP EDITION OF

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY have published, from time to time, limited editions in paper covers of the works of E. P. Roe. All of these have been quickly sold and have entirely disappeared from the market with the exception of three recently published, of which small numbers still remain.

The aggregate sale of these limited editions has reached the large total of about three-quarters of a million copies.

In response to a very general demand, they now announce a limited edition, in a more convenient form, of fourteen of the most popular works of this author, to be well printed and attractively bound, and issued in 12mo size in paper covers, at fifty cents per volume. These will be published as numbers of their Library of Fiction, as follows:

- Jan. 15th .....The Earth Trembled.
- Feb. 1st.....Young Girl's Wooing.
- Feb. 15th .....Opening of a Chestnut Burr.
- Mar. 1st.....From Jest to Earnest.
- Mar. 15th.....Without a Home.
- Apr. 1st.....His Sombre Rivals.
- Apr. 15th.....Day of Fate.
- May 1st .....Nature's Serial Story.
- May 15th.....Face Illumined.
- June 1st.....He Fell in Love with His Wife.
- June 15th.....Knight of the XIX. Century.
- July 1st.....What Can She Do.
- July 15th.....Driven Back to Eden.
- Aug. 1st .....Near to Nature's Heart.

These numbers of the Library of Fiction will be strictly limited to 30,000 copies of each, and the entire edition will be sold through the

who are the agents for supplying the trade with this periodical.
